

NATIONAL COOPERATIVE OF HEALTH NETWORKS

the membership association for network leaders

ABOUT US

NCHN is a national professional membership organization comprised exclusively of health networks, alliances, and/or network stakeholders dedicated to supporting the success of health networks.

Health networks face unique challenges that only other network leaders know and understand. Through NCHN, networks gain access to resources developed specifically for health networks and to a large pool of leaders who understand, face, and excel under similar constraints, demands, and opportunities. Few organizations function as networks do. NCHN is the only national organization dedicated specifically to supporting health networks.
