

Erin Kochan currently services as the Project Director for the Illinois Telehealth Network. Erin lives in Wood River Illinois with her husband and two daughters. Erin holds an M.B.A. from Franklin University in Columbus, OH.

The Illinois Telehealth Network, or ITN, has 26 members from central and southern Illinois. ITN's mission is to promote the capacity of its members to improve access to health care in rural, underserved and disadvantaged communities through the application of telehealth and telemedicine solutions. The vision for ITN is to connect and share resources, strengthen rural health care and save lives.

ITN was launched in June 2014 with HRSA funding. Since then, the ITN has grown to 26 members, including several rural, critical access hospitals, medical groups and ACO's. In 2016, a nine member Board of Directors was elected and provides oversight to the Network and are supported by an Executive Director, Network Director, Project Director and Finance Director, as well as Administrative Support and Outreach Support.